With work situations changing and different needs becoming more apparent we created Bliss in Iso. A suitable name for a changing world. This is a home where everyone will be happy to bunker down together.

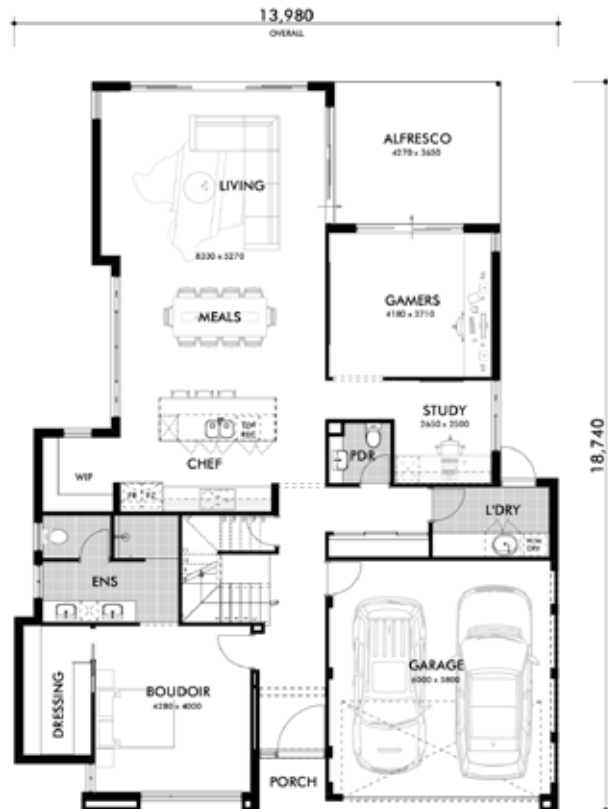

The free form living space, kitchen, study and gamers area interact, ensuring we kept a level of connectedness yet all areas can be closed off to provide a little sanity to everyone at home. The gamers space is versatile and can be an area for the kids, or an area for the adults that comes off the alfresco.
